NOVEMBER NOTES:

Ahoy Boaters,

November - yep - I said it. It is here already. Hope everyone had some fun trick or treating! Is it me, or did we just get robbed out of our fall weather? Well, no matter, this is better for boating.

Who really knows what kind of fall or winter we will have. A dry winter means we can make up for all that lost summer boating time. A wet winter makes it hard to get work done properly on your boat. Now is the time to get things taken care of that you have been putting off. Bottom paint? Tune-ups? Out drive service and paint? Leaky windows?

Here are some benefits to November appointments:

1. Boat yards are slower right now which means you can be in and out of there much quicker.
2. More consecutive days of good weather to work on your boat.
3. Before you know it, the holidays will be rolling around and you'll want that boat in tip-top condition for your office party.
....and probably the best reason....
4. Get your boat fixed up before your wife spends all your money on Christmas presents for the grand kids. (yes, ladies, I went there. I wish I had a dollar for each time I heard a man say this. ha ha.)

Really, I could go on with good reasons, but why? All things to point to the same answer--> It is time to call for your appointment today!

Best Wishes, Sarah & Jason
